Investment Objective

Menhaden Capital PLC (the "Company") seeks to generate long-term shareholder returns, predominantly in the form of capital growth, by investing in businesses and opportunities, irrespective of their size, location or stage of development, delivering or benefiting from the efficient use of energy and resources. Commentary

During January, the Company's net asset value ('NAV') per share was down 1.3%, the share price was unchanged, while the MSCI World Index (total return, sterling adjusted) gained 0.2%.

Airbus was the biggest contributor amongst our publicly traded equity positions, up 9.9% for the month, adding 0.9% to our NAV. Airbus made significant progress during Q4 2017 ramping up its new A320neo. In 2017, Airbus delivered a record number of aircraft (over 700) and ended the year having delivered over 180 A320neos to customers, which was more than expected. The company aims to deliver around 800 aircraft in total in 2018.

The strengthening of sterling against the dollar was a significant drag on our US publicly traded equity positions during the month, including both Brookfield Renewal Energy, which was down 9%, and Terraform Power, down 13%, which suffered share price declines that were exacerbated by rising US bond yields. This drag was offset by currency hedges on half our USD exposure.

The biggest detractor for the month was Adient, which declined by 22%, detracting 0.7% from our NAV, following a profit warning. The company attributed recent poor performance to greater than expected operational headwinds, particularly in its seat mechanisms business, as well as to higher commodity prices. However management remains committed to the previously guided 200bps margin enhancement by 2020. Moreover, Adient has signed a joint venture agreement with Boeing to form Adient Aerospace to explore the opportunity in lightweight aircraft seating.

Before investing in the Company, or any other investment product, you should satisfy yourself as to its suitability and the risks involved, and you may wish to consult a financial adviser.

Any return you receive depends on future market performance and is uncertain. The Company does not seek any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment. Shares of the Company are bought and sold on the London Stock Exchange. The price you pay or receive, like other listed shares, is determined by supply and demand and may be at a discount or premium to the underlying net asset value of the Company. Usually, at any given time, the price you pay for a share will be higher than the price you could sell it. For further information on the principal risks the Company is exposed to please refer to the Company's Annual Report or Investor Disclosure Document available at www.menhaden.com.

The Company, currently, deploys leverage using currency forwards. These are designed to, partially, protect/hedge the NAV from unfavourable movements in foreign exchange rates by reducing the Company's exposure to foreign currencies. The Company can borrow to purchase investments, this could potentially magnify any losses or gains made by the Company.

Investment Policy

The Company's investment objective is pursued through constructing a conviction-driven portfolio consisting primarily of direct listed and unlisted holdings across different asset classes and geographies. The Company invests, either directly or through external funds, in a portfolio that is comprised of three main allocations: listed equity; yield assets; and special situations. The flexibility to invest across asset classes affords the Company two main benefits: 1) It enables construction of a portfolio based on an assessment of market cycles; and 2) It enables investment in all opportunities which benefit from the investment theme. Once substantially invested, it is expected the portfolio will comprise approximately 20 to 25 positions. Typically, the portfolio will not comprise fewer than 20 positions or more than 50 positions. For these purposes, an investment in an external fund is treated as one position.

The portfolio will be predominantly focused on investments in developed markets, though if opportunities that present an attractive risk and reward profile are available in emerging markets then these may also be pursued. While many of the companies forming the portfolio will be headquartered in the UK, USA or Europe, it should be noted that many of those companies will be global in nature so their reporting currency may not reflect their actual geographic or currency exposures. Subject at all times to any applicable investment restrictions contained in the Listing Rules, the Company will not make an investment if it would cause a breach of any of the following limits at the point of investment: 1) no more than 20% of the Company's gross assets may be invested, directly or indirectly through external funds, in the securities of any single entity; and, 2) no more than 20% of the Company's gross assets may be invested in a single external fund.

Menhaden Capital PLC conducts its affairs so that its shares can be recommended by independent financial advisers ("IFAs") to retail private investors. The shares are excluded from the Financial Conduct Authority's ("FCA's") restrictions which apply to non-mainstream investment products because they are shares in a UK-listed investment trust.

Infigen was the second material detractor for January, declining by 10%, costing us 0.6% of NAV. This continued decline is down, in our view, to a combination of general uncertainty over the Australian Government's future renewable energy plans (or lack of them) and the delay in Infigen's long-awaited debt refinancing. We expect the company to provide an update on its recapitalisation plans during March and we believe that the current share price continues to offer material upside.

In January we added a third name, Sabesp, to our portfolio of Brazilian regional water utility monopolies. Water is an increasingly scarce resource everywhere, with two-thirds of the world's population expected to face water shortages by 2025. As such, Brazil is significantly ramping up regulatory support for private sector water and sanitation infrastructure investment. These large, well-established regional monopolies offer attractive and predictable cash flows, backed by long-term contracts, with real potential for growth as water and sanitation reach more and more previously unserved households.

Google is the world's largest buyer of electricity generated from renewable sources: 2,600 megawatts, which represents 100% of the electricity used by the company. Given this, after thorough analysis, we added Alphabet to the portfolio during January. We like businesses with strong market positions, and Google has a very strong position globally in search, with that position being strengthened significantly over time as more and more people switch to mobile, which favours Google. The company is highly cash generative, with an expected free cash flow conversion of around half of EBITDA during the next five years. Google's share price has lagged its technology peers in recent months, and offers good value at these levels, in our view.
